

A worthy example of a virtuous wife, who fed her father with her own milk, being condemned to be famished to death: and after was pardoned by the Emperor.
To the tune of Plying Fame.

In Rome I reade a Noble man,
The Emperours bid offend,
And say that fact he long since did tune to a cruell end:

What he should be in prison call,
 With Irons many one,
 And there be famisht with death,
 And brought to skin and bone.

And more if any one were hapless,
by night or yet by day,
To bring him any kind of foe,
No longer to allow,
The Emperor's throne a mighty one,
And his strength (weakly)
To be so weak as the crumpled earth,
That may be so.

This cruel sentence once pronounced,
The Noble man thus said,
Into a Dungeon darke he was tresp, 177
With Irons fastened fast,
And here when he had with hunger grants
Remained ten daies space,
And suffer tenn thousand paines,
In his most soulefull teares.

The four on along his aged face,
 read pleasantly his fall,
 then graciously he told begins,
 for to complain too full.
 O Love, surely he, what shall I see,
 to hunger I add not I,
 for want of bread, one bit of bread,
 I family, I arm and eye.

Write prisoners here and copy of report,
 name and address inside.
 Also send your own and family photo.

O that I had but every day
one bit of bread to eat, Though here so many, black as hyacinth my comfort should be great:
Nay, albeit I take it up trodden in dirt and mire,
It would be pleasing to my taste,
and sweet to my desire.

Come, let us, how happy is the State,
 that labour's all the day,
 The hanging Scales, the peasant poor;
 to which at commonment day:
 These have their ordinary meals, they take no part of all Of those stout crimes & cruelties, that they in carelessly let fall.

How happy is the little chick,
that without fear may go,
And pick up those most precious crumbs,
which they always do throw,
O that some pretty little Dove, so much my friend would be,
To bring some old fashioned crust into this place to me.

What of my heart, I wish in vain, no success I can have;
 No wealth, no rank, no tender plea,
 my longed life to save.
 O bring some boon for Christ his sake;
 (his blood, whose blood is mine)
 I give, I give for lack of human strength and sense to give.

Then shall we merrily drinke this to the good of, &c.

Our Husbands, Sons, and Father,
our Unckels, and our Coyens,
are slaine out right,
or maimed quite,
and so many by dozens;
Our wives, our maides, and daughter in our own sight defiled,
this to prebent,
let the Parliament,
and the King be reconciled
Then shall we merrily drinke this to the good of the, &c.
